

Hunt For Eight Machine Gun Mail Bandits Is Centered

500 ARMED MEN ARE CLOSING IN ON SMALL AREA

If Plane Finds Any Clew 2,000 Militiamen Will Be Called

Bound Brook, N. J., Oct. 16.—The spectacular hunt for the eight machine gun mail bandits who killed one man and wounded two others in the $150,000 mail robbery Thursday morning at Elizabeth, N. J., today had narrowed to a small area around Chimney Rock, two miles from here.

As 75 state troopers comprising the advance guard of 500 armed men who are participating in the most extensive man hunt ever made in the east, closed in on the corner of the Watchung Mountains where the bandits are believed to be hiding, a battle appeared imminent this morning. If the desperadoes are located in this area, 20 miles long and three miles wide, the battle will be fought on the field where General Lightfoot Harry Lee retreated under British fire shortly before the battle of Princeton, 160 years ago.

The posse was formed after two girls giving the names of Rosetta Doland, 16, 877 McCollister, Columbus, and Cleo Webb, Danversville, were captured as they were leaving town. They admitted having lived here as the wives of the bandits and implicated their lovers, police say, in the killing. Later the two were believed to have been skulking in the underbrush along the Seloto River, three miles southeast of here, and National Guard troops were assembled to take up the man hunt.

Garrett was killed when he accosted the two men in their auto. He was troopers, another 100 policemen from neighboring towns, members of the New York and Philadelphia police departments and several hundred volunteers, mostly war veterans. They are equipped with rifles, gas bombs and hand grenades. Three members of the bandit gang have been identified by witnesses of the mail robbery as James J. "Killer" Connelley and "Bum" Rodgers, New York gunmen. Rewards for the capture of the desperadoes total $20,000.

CLOSE IN ON ALLEGED SLAYERS

Chillicothe, Oct. 16.—National Guard troops, sheriff's officials and police, early today surrounded a section of bottom land near here and began closing in on John and Monroe Hickman of Pomeroy, who are alleged to have assassinated Policeman Dan Garrett here yesterday.

The posse was formed after two girls giving the names of Rosetta Doland, 16, 877 McCollister, Columbus, and Cleo Webb, Danversville, were captured as they were leaving town. They admitted having lived here as the wives of the bandits and implicated their lovers, police say, in the killing. Later the two were believed to have been skulking in the underbrush along the Seloto River, three miles southeast of here, and National Guard troops were assembled to take up the man hunt.

seeking suspects in a holdup. He was shot down by the approaching pair.

GUARD HIGHWAY FOR LONE BANDIT

Cleveland, Oct. 16.—Cleveland detectives early today were guarding the Cleveland- Toledo Highway for a lone bandit, who held up the People's Bank of New Boston, Mich., near Detroit, late yesterday and escaped with $12,000 in currency.

The bandit, according to word received by police here, was seen in Toledo several hours after the robbery. He was in an auto, accompanied by a woman, the reports here said, and was headed in the direction of Cleveland.

THREE CALLS ANSWERED BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

Prospect for New Low Mark for October Alarms Dimming

Three fire alarms, answered by the Central Department between noon Friday and 8:15 this morning, indicate that the prospects of October establishing a record with an unusually small number of fires are failing to materialize as a result of developments during the last half of the month.

Prior to Friday, only two calls had been answered by the three local fire stations since October 1 and this led to the prediction that the total for the month would be one of the lowest in the history of the department. October is ordinarily a busy month for the fire fighters, 15 alarms having called them out during the month in 1925 and about the same number the two preceding years.

No damage resulted from any of the three fires which called out the department Friday and today. The first came at 10:15 from the home of J. D. Curran on Jefferson-st. as a result of a neighbor becoming alarmed by clouds of smoke coming from a pile of old shingles that Mr. Curran was burning.

Friday afternoon at 3:15 firemen at the Central Station were called to State and Pleasant-sts., where a quantity of waste paper had become ignited in one of the city's Service Department trucks used for hauling refuse collected by the street cleaning force. The paper had fallen into the machine near the exhaust pipe and becoming ignited led the driver to believe that the car was afire. Investigation by the firemen, however, revealed that the flames had not spread to any part of the truck and that there had been no damage.

The firemen were summoned at 8:15 this morning to the Osgood Co.'s plant, where sparks had started a slight blaze on the roof of one of the factory buildings. Workmen at the plant had extinguished the blaze before the firemen arrived.

Marion Theater to Observe Twelfth

"NO, NO, NANETTE" TO APPEAR AT GRAND

Anniversary With Program Next Week

MARION motion picture folk will observe next week with the Marion Theater its twelfth anniversary. And in connection with this anniversary Manager G. H. Foster has made arrangements for a special week of anniversary entertainment, including both pictures and vaudeville.

One of the most interesting features of the week lies in the looking of pictures for the Marion.

Twelve years ago, when the theater was opened in 1914, the first picture shown was "My Official Wife," featuring Clara Kimball Young and Earl Williams, two of the foremost stars of those days.

Since then many pictures have been made and many remade. So, recently Warner Brothers, in search of a vehicle for Irene Rich and Conway Tearle, decided to remake "My Official Wife," and this is the picture that Manager Foster will show Monday and Tuesday and probably Wednesday.

Wednesday is the specific anniversary of the theater's opening.

For the last three days of the week, commencing Thursday, Manager Foster is to offer "The Quarterback," a football story starring Richard Dix and a picture that in the last week has been warmly praised by New York critics as one of the snappiest football pictures made. Manager Foster was trying to make arrangements today to open the engagement of "The Quarterback" Tuesday rather than Wednesday.

On the vaudeville stage the first half of the week will be the Five Musical Chaps, a saxophone quintet, while Gomez and his orchestra will have a special program for the last three days.

THE Grand Theater will run the gamut of entertainment next week in offering musical comedy, pictures and vaudeville.

The outstanding day of the week for the Grand will be Wednesday when at midday and night the theater will present "No, No, Nanette," the musical comedy.

As was noted here a week ago "No, No, Nanette" is one of the finest, snappiest, cleanest and poetical musical comedies ever staged.

This writer has seen two companies play it and it almost is actor-proof. When the first company came along in another city he saw the entire show or parts of it somewhere in the neighborhood of five times. To see a musical comedy five times in one week must be good, especially when the viewer's business is to see them all, good and bad.

The music is a feature of "No, No, Nanette," introducing "I Want To Be Happy," "No, No, Nanette," "Tea for Two," and "Who's the Who?"

All that is needed is for the producer to deliver a good cast—he has in his other companies and one hopes that he does the same with the company coming here. This company also plays Toledo next week.

A "flock" of names will be found in the cast of "The Marriage Circle," the Ernst Lubitsch product at the Grand Monday and Tuesday. Included are Florence Vidor, Adolphe Menjou, Monte Blue, Marie Prevost and Creighton Hale.

HIGHER prices and mediocre shows are making the smaller stands more difficult than ever for the theatrically touring attractions, says this week's Variety, the theatrical trade paper.

Closing of shows have been "wholesale." High prices are "suicide" for road shows. According to Variety veteran managers declare prevailing Broadway prices for touring attractions have beaten road business and that as soon as road show operators realize this the better chance for resuscitation of road business.

Continues the publication:

"Old school road manager has been attempting to convince the road stand manager to reduce the tariff, arguing for a new set of prices ranging from 25 cents to $1.50.

"Those arguing for the lower scale are offering results of Robert B. Mantel in his recent road tour at $1.50. The Shakespearean actor has grossed better than he did at higher prices in previous seasons, indicating that the country will buy shows at certain prices but refuses to go for heavy dough, showing preference for the pop prices shows instead."

SLACK times in the studios of Hollywood have caused many actors and actresses, it is said, to seek "extra" jobs in Cecil B. DeMille's new Biblical spectacle, "King of Kings." Many of the actors are without jobs and are glad to take "extra" jobs, being able to "hide" behind the ancient costumes and whisks.

NEWS of the films and the film players called here and there: Dele Daniels has signed a new contract with Famous Players for five years at $3,000 per week. . . . Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will not make "Romeo and Juliet" with Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer for the present. Among the pictures promised by Variety this week are "Kid Boots," with Eddie Cantor; "The Quarterback," with Richard Dix; "The Better Ole," with Syd Chaplin, and "Bardelys the Magnificent," with John Gilbert. . . . "The Temptress," "Greta Garbo," is given a half-hearted notice, not much is said for "The New Men of the Week," while "Cigolide" with Rod LaRouque is called slow and draggy.

MARION "GAS" STATIONS GIVING HONEST MEASURE

Sealer of Weights and Measures Here Says Operators Complying With Law

Although much trouble is being experienced by officials in other Ohio localities in regulating the sale of gasoline, some of them being called upon to prosecute filling station proprietors for alleged short measure, no difficulties of this kind have existed here, according to J. T. Mason, 699 E. Center-st., Marion County's sealer of weights and measures. No complaints against any filling stations have been received during recent months, Mr. Mason states, and his regular inspections show that all station operators in the county are complying with the law and giving honest measure.

Practically all stations in Marion County are equipped with the best type of pumps and this has contributed largely to maintaining satisfactory service. The sealer says.

At a meeting of sealers of weights and measures representing various Northern and Eastern Ohio counties, held this week in New Philadelphia, these officials and the public were warned to maintain a close watch on filling stations, particularly those in charge of

LEGION ASKS LODGES TO AID ARMISTICE DAY

Letters Mailed to All Organizations in City Seeking Co-operation

As a part of the plan to make the Armistice Day celebration on Nov. 11, a community event, with citizens generally, both young and old, taking part in the festivities, the committee appointed the Marion World War Veterans Legion, 110 S. High-st., to have charge of arrangements. Today it mailed copies of a letter to 40 local lodges, clubs and other organizations, inviting them to participate. It is expected that a large number of favorable responses will be received and that numerous organizations will be represented in the parade which is to open the evening's program. A meeting of representatives of the various organizations which are to take part will be held with the American Legion committee in the Legion's Community House on S. High-st. the evening of October 27 to make final arrangements for the celebration. The first event of the day will be special exercises in all of the public schools at 11 o'clock in the morning. At the hour when the armistice became effective on November 11, 1918. A code of instructions on the significance of Armistice Day and what it should mean in the promotion of patriotism and good citizenship will be read in all of the grade schools. This code is being drawn up by Gilbert V. Paschall, Marion World War veteran and past commander of the local American Legion Post.

Legion Letter
 "The American Legion has appointed a committee on arrangements to sponsor a fitting celebration for Armistice Day. It is the purpose of this committee to make this a community affair in which every citizen in some way or other can participate, and we have arranged our plans accordingly.
 "You no doubt remember the feeling of joy and thankfulness that you experienced eight years ago on Armistice Day when the news was flashed across the world that the war with its slaughter of human lives had been stopped at exactly 11 o'clock, November 11, 1918. While it is impossible to re-enact the same scenes that happened eight years ago in Marion, it is the thought and purpose of this committee to create as far as possible the same spirit of joy and happiness that prevailed eight years ago. The only way that this can be done is for all citizens of Marion, both old and young, to cooperate and give their moral support in order to make this community affair a success.
 "It is with this spirit that we are now inviting you to participate in the parade that will be formed at 6:45 p. m. at the corner of W. Center and Oak-st., either in uniform or civilian dress as an organization, with appropriate banners designating your organization, and following the parade with presence

Motorcade, Including Eight Cars on Two-Day Trip, Stops Here

The motorcade of Toledo hotel men and their wives, making a two-day journey through Ohio, was welcomed here yesterday at the Hotel Kunkin, being received here by local hotel men and their wives.

George G. Lippencott, proprietor of the Kunkin Hotel; Charles T. Gaurey, proprietor of the Hotel Harding, and K. C. Frey, proprietor of the Hotel Marion, with their wives, were present when the motorcade arrived at the Hotel Kunkin on schedule time. There were eight machines in the party, each bearing a banner carrying the name of the Toledo hotel represented. The group left Toledo early yesterday morning, visiting Fremont, Norwalk, Bellevue, Mansfield and Bucyrus prior to their arrival here. Members of the party were received at the Deshler Hotel of Columbus last night. The return trip was made today through Marysville, Bellefontaine, Kenton, Findlay, Fostoria and Tiffin.

R. R. Mills, president of the Ohio Hotel Association, and Mrs. Mills were members of the motorcade.

Maybe so, but it's worth noting that, when they tackle bootleg whisky and think they are dead, they really are.

Adequate Fire Protection at Last.

This week, for the first time in our history, Marion may be said to possess adequate fire protection. Back in the days before the construction of our waterworks system, when reliance was placed upon cisterns about the town, the Masonic block fire demonstrated that such protection against fire as we had was not dependable, for any blaze beyond the ordinary, for the burning of the Masonic block occasioned a water demand to which our cisterns were unequal. All within reach of the city's hose supply were pumped dry, and citizens were compelled to stand helpless as what was then considered a fine building was destroyed. Its falling walls crushing buildings to both the east and west of it.

If the burning of the Grand opera-house in more recent years did not show the inadequacy of the waterworks system of that time, surely the two or three breaks in the sixteen-inch main between the city and the water plant, one of them during the great flood when we were without connection with the plant for a couple of days, made plain that Marion's fire protection was not what it should be and that it never would be what it should until we had at least two mains running from the city to the pumping station out along the Little Scioto river.

This week the newly-installed twenty-four-inch main was connected up and placed in operation. Not only does it give Marion a double connection with the pumping station, but it is also equipped with a number of gates and cross-overs, which will permit water service around breaks and make possible water service to Marion even though there were breaks in both mains, provided that the breaks in the two mains did not come between the same cross-overs.

Thus it is that Marion may at last be said to have the fire protection which her importance as an industrial, business and residential center demands. Thus it is that a situation which this paper has advocated and urged ever since the Grand opera-house fire at last obtains. Our citizenship is to be congratulated that the situation which now obtains is as it is, and the Water company is at the same time to be commended for going ahead with the improvement at a time when the entire waterworks situation was in a chaotic state, thus making it possible for Marion to have this protection the more speedily.

Today's Biggest Problem Is Crime.

Over a year ago we made the declaration in these columns that the biggest problem facing the people of this country was crime. We have since frequently reiterated that view, and scarcely a day has passed in the interim that has not added support to that view. We urged then that if the crime situation was not speedily gotten in hand and criminals apprehended and summarily punished, the crime being manifested in the larger centers of population throughout the country would spread and be waged against smaller cities and still smaller cities and villages until heroic measures throughout the length and breadth of the land would be necessary to combat it.

We believe that there will be general accord that time has demonstrated the soundness of this view. We believe that the people of the country are at last awakening to the fact that the crime situation is entirely out of hand, and some of them who are honest with themselves will be forced to the self-admission that their own scorn and defiance of the prohibition law has encouraged crime by leading to scorn and defiance of all law by those with whom they deal in their law-breaking, until such corruption has been worked that many court officials and police authorities are working hand in hand with gunmen, gangsters, rum-runners, bootleggers, thugs and criminals in all lines.

Law-breaking engenders law-breaking. There can no longer be question of this. Not can it longer be questioned that the gunmen and gangsters who have so long defied the law with impunity in the liquor traffic have widened their field and entered into banditry with the result that the powers of the government, the several states and the municipalities of the land are alike defied.

Criminals today are better armed and equipped than ever before. They are both better armed and possess better and faster cars in which to reach the scene of their contemplated crimes and make their get-aways than are the honest members of police forces who endeavor to combat them.

This was never better illustrated than by the recent robbery of a mail truck in Elizabeth, New Jersey, in which a mounted police escort was run down, the driver of the car was killed, his helper wounded and between $100,000 and $300,000 carried off by the bandits, whose car was so speedy that it distanced the motorcycle policemen attempting to follow it.

There never was a more cold-blooded murder than this. The driver was shot down wantonly, his helper shot and wounded and the police escort deliberately run down. Yet such are our laws, so dilatory are our courts and so indirect their methods, so many are the lawyers who have more brains than morals or respect for the lives and welfare of their fellow-men, so many are the technicalities that what we would call the followers of disreputable legal practices employ, that were these bandits caught alive—let us hope they will not be taken alive—they would have easily bettered than a fifty-fifty chance of escaping any punishment at all commensurate with their crime.

What this country needs is a general house-cleaning in its courts and police departments such a house-cleaning as will drive out court officials such as those shot down up in Chicago while associating with notorious criminals, such a house-cleaning as will drive from police departments officers who take toll and profit by crime.

And when such a house-cleaning has been effected, honest police officers should be backed up in their warfare against crime, fortified by the knowledge that if they place their own lives above those of criminals they will not be made to suffer punishment for so doing. And the courts having been cleansed of dishonest officials, they should be cleansed also of the attorneys who live on crime, no matter what their ability may be; in fact, the greater their ability, the more easily should they be convicted of practices showing them unfit to practice before courts.

And lastly, the sentimentality and soft sentimentality should be made to realize that decent people hold them accessories to crime. Sickly sentimentality more than any other cause has led to the law's delays, which so generally result in the nullification of the moral effect of punishment and often in the complete overthrow of right and justice.

Possibly there is no other time which offers people so many opportunities as during a campaign for learning things that aren't so.

Pension Fund for Firemen.

This newspaper believes that the plan to change the firemen's indemnity fund, established in this city four years ago, to a pension plan, scheduled for adoption by the city council next year, will have the hearty approval of the great majority of the citizenship of Marion. Under the indemnity fund plan, protection is provided for the firemen only when injured in line of duty, but under the pension plan the firemen will have protection not only in time of injury, but also in time of sickness and when, by reason of age or other cause, they are unable longer to serve in the department.

The indemnity fund is accumulated under a state law which provides for an annual tax levy of not less than three-tenths of a mill for the purpose and carries a stipulation that the levy must be sufficiently large to raise a fund of $15,000 in a period of four years. By next year, the balance of this indemnity fund will have attained the $15,000 mark, and council will then be in position to enact the legislation necessary to effect the change.

We feel that the pension plan will prove of much greater merit than would the indemnity fund and we believe that Marion people generally will take the same view, if they have not already done so. Such is the life of a fireman and such the pay that he receives that he should have some protection for the future. At a higher earning power, he might be able to look after his own future, but as a fireman is paid there is little chance in this day and age for him to lay up a fund for the time when his days of activity are over. This is why he should have the protection which a pension will give him.

We hope the plan will be made into an actuality.

WHEN WILL THEY SEE HIM AS HE IS AND NOT THE REFLECTION IN THE MIRROR?

Fussing and Kissing Lead to Ills.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Most babies are mauled and kissed until it is a wonder they ever live at all. Nobody can be blamed for wanting to fondle a sweet little baby. The very softness and sweetness of the flesh and the dimples of face and hands make them attractive in every way.

But babies ought not to be mauled and fondled. It is bad for them. The best thing the average person can do with a baby is to pay it no attention. You should disregard it. You may be permitted to look at the baby, but more than that you must not do.

Of course, I am well aware with what disgust my Uncle Gus, 101 years old, will read this article. He will sniff in disdain and say that babies thrive on petting. I must admit that Uncle Gus did, but every year of his long life thousands upon thousands of babies died because they were petted and kissed. The most fatal of all diseases to the infant is disease of the breathing organs. What may be a simple cold, of no consequence whatever to the grown-up, may become a fatal bronchitis when the baby catches it.

The bones and muscles of a tiny infant are tender and soft. A tiny spinal column is none too strong. Awkward and rough handling of the baby, with little or no support to his back, may do real harm. Unless you have been taught how to lift and handle an infant, you leave it alone and let its dear mother or the nurse do the moving. Novices can and less serious things to do than to manhandle a baby.

Most infants are overdressed. They wear too many bands and wrappings of clothing. They suffer and perspire in consequence. The skin becomes "lapped and chafed." "Prickly heat" and sensitiveness of the skin are natural results. Give the baby the benefit of the doubt and rejoice the young body by giving it an hour or so a day without any clothes at all. Spread a blanket on the grass or a clean sheet on the floor in a sunny spot. Let the naked youngster run on it and let it kick to its heart's content.

Father goes in for handball and mother for tennis. It is just as important to give Master Baby his share of physical exercise. I know of no better way to get it than by an hour's frolic every day, an hour of unimpeded physical freedom.

The kicking and jumping and tisking and squirming of a little child are instinctive methods of strengthening muscles and making the tissues strong and firm. These antics should be encouraged. The freedom from clothing and the wide area of the blanket will give the baby the chance he needs.

When father and brothers get home from business or play the baby should not be touched certainly not until soap and water have removed the stains and dirt of office, shop or street. Dirty hands and feet should never be applied to an infant. But it is better still to keep hands, even clean ones, entirely away from the baby.

You may think an cruel and foolish. But if you had a piece of high priced cut glass you wouldn't make it a plaything. You would handle it gingerly and protect against its rough usage by anybody. Is not the welfare of the baby just as important? Of course, you are not likely to break a baby, but you can do harm almost equal to breaking its body.

A fussy mother can overdo the business of keeping germs away from her precious offspring. It can't pass all the germs, and we wouldn't want it to do so. It develops strength and immunity to disease by fighting germs. But this is no reason for inviting disaster by needless exposure to germs and dirt. Soap and water and clean things to play with are most desirable. Clean rooms and clean air are essential to its welfare.

Leave the baby to its own resources and see how it will thrive. Don't take it up simply because it cries. Let the child live its own life and it will live a long one.—Copyright, 1926.

Vagrant Verse.

JOY OF THE MORNING.

Hopes and fears, and smiles and tears
Of a world that speeds along,
But still it dreams of a morning's beam—
Singing a morning song.

Singing of light
In the shadows of night
And the joy of a morning song.

Faith to keep where the tempests sweep,
And a Rock where faith can cling;
The darkness dies, and the night of sighs
Heeds the stars of morning light.

Singing of light—
Of a morning bright.
After the grief of the night.

In the desolate way blooms a rose of the May,
And the thorn-crown is no more;
The tempests cease and waves sing "Peace"—
Peace to the storm-beat shore.

After the night
The song of the light—
The song of the living light.

Interesting Questions Asked and Their Answers.

Q. What are the metric units of length and weight?
A. The unit of length is the metre, equal to 39.37 inches. The unit of weight is the gram, equal to 15.432 grains.

Q. What is the largest weapon for sea coast defense in this country?
A. The sixteen-inch gun is the largest weapon constructed for sea coast defense. The maximum range with a charge of 800 pounds of powder is over thirty miles. A rate of fire of about one round per minute can be maintained with this equipment.

Q. Please give details of the last Pike's peak race.
A. The latest race up Pike's peak was won by Glen Schultz, in a Stutz special, in eighteen minutes and 13.2 seconds. The other contestants were as follows: second, Joe Unser, Lexington Special, nineteen minutes, 1.4 seconds; third, Humphrey Bollman, Oakland Special, twenty-one minutes, 38.4 seconds. The length of this road is twelve miles.

Q. How are airships moored?
A. In the United States the method of mooring is to secure the airship's mooring cone into the mooring mast cup, the government masts being each 180 feet tall. In the airship, the mooring spindle is secured in the nose, in a roller thrust bearing, which allows the ship to rotate about the spindle and at the same time takes the thrust or pull of the ship due to its wind resistance. The mooring cup is free to rotate its vertical axis, since it is secured to an inner tube, which is mounted on ball bearings, thus allowing the airship to swing freely to the wind about the mooring cup in the center.

The ship can roll about its own axis and change its angle of inclination. Thus the only strains put on the mooring mast or on the structure of the airship are those due to the wind resistance of the airship and to the ship's free lift or excess weight.

Q. Have aerial photographs proved of assistance in making hydrographic charts?
A. The United States navy considers the aeroplane an important factor in the survey of both land and sea areas. The value of using aerial photographs in chart-making has been proved after several years of effort and experiment.

Q. Where can I borrow money to aid me in founding a college course?
A. Practically every large college or university provides funds through which students may obtain money to further their college education. These funds are obtainable only through the college or university direct.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Too little attention is paid to Columbus these days. Knights of Columbus have done well in calling attention to the importance of the great navigator. They do not celebrate his birth, but celebrate the discovery of America. A tribute to Columbus himself a great and courageous man, would be fitting.

Great men are scarce. They have been scarce all through history. Let's not forget them.

You want to "put things over." Every one does. Remember this—you can't control others until you have learned absolutely to control yourself. Self-control is the first step to power—and a long step.

Some one once remarked to a timid man, known to the writer: "You have a $100,000 personality. Why don't you use it?"

That woke the timid man up. He got over being timid. He acquired self-assurance. He realized he really did have that vast of all gifts—charm, personality. He began to expand and use his gifts. Soon he had people and things coming his way.

Don't be afraid to expand. To use your powers.

More men and women have been slain by fear than by the sword. More have died of fear than of disease. Marching in is never so hard on the nervous system as backing out.

A noted biologist in Vienna committed suicide when he discovered one of his laboratory experiments had been faked, probably by an assistant. Having made a mistake he couldn't face life—the ridicule of his fellows. It was not worth committing suicide about. And yet, the great men of the world are the ones who have taken their work so seriously they were willing to die for it—and sometimes did.

Able Bromfield, of Labrador, a half-breed Eskimo, is visiting American cities. He never travelled anywhere except north before. Able is amazed at American life. He says the greatest sport in the world for him is just looking. Able will see many things done quickly. That is not always an improvement on doing a few things slowly. It is a question if we would not have as much to learn from the far, slow, serene corners of the earth as the far corners have to learn from us.

Who's Who and Why.

NORRIS H. NELSON.

Norris H. Nelson, candidate for United States senator in North Dakota, was born in a log house in Greenview township, Steele county, North Dakota, May 20, 1884.

His father, Steen H. Nelson, homesteaded the land on which the house stood in 1881, and has resided on it ever since, except when he was county treasurer for two terms and resided at the county seat. His early years were spent on the farm, attending country school and aiding his father with farm work. At the age of thirteen years he was doing a man's work. He was graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1909 and later received the degree of bachelor of laws from the law school at the state university. During his college life he took an active interest in the work of literary societies and in athletics; was captain of the basketball teams of 1908 and 1909 and pitcher on the baseball team.

His only political experience has been as clerk of the judiciary committee of the state senate during the session of 1911.

He was married in 1912 and has two sons, ten and seven years of age.

Notwithstanding his university education and admission to the bar, he chose to follow his father's vocation and is conducting a large farm for his father who is seventy-two years of age.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 16.—No city in the world is quite so curious as this. A Lamb's club joke used to pick out a deserted side street at night, and begin lighting matches in apparent haste for a lost article. In no time the street would fill and he would pounce upon a penny and move away.

The ordinary procedure of fitting a tire to an auto will line the curb. A safe holding requires an extra platoon of police. The personal appearance of a movie star makes Broadway impassable. The other day reserves were called on Forty-second street. An electric sign had fallen.

Rioting crowds at Valentino's bier and millions who waited on Broadway and Fifth avenue for Gertrude Ederle's triumphant return are symbols of the inquisitiveness of the packed little island. Big men and little will slam down their desks for a peep at celebrities. Crowds will congregate on steamship piers in the wind and rain at the bare announcement that some famous person is arriving on an incoming ship. It does not matter whether the hour is midnight or midday. There is no intent to be prying or meddlesome.

The truth is New York is a hero-worshipping city. It doesn't like to admit it—that would not be being "hard boiled." Those who suffer so contentedly at the crowds that press about heroes are usually those in the front row of cheerers.

Those who know say the lonely are greatest worshippers of heroes and the metropolis is in a way merely responding to its natural mood of loneliness. No city sees so many celebrities and no city welcomes them so wholeheartedly. We are in our way magnificent "hicks." The orderly process of a Broadway play is often stopped by sudden discovery of a celebrity in a box. The play can not go on until he steps out and reveals himself. And when "Peaches" Browning went on honeymoon shopping tours she had to leave department stores by the back door.

The heaviest loss, I am told, when Gotham welcomes a celebrity is suffered by the telephone company. A part of the welcome includes an ankle deep shower of confetti. It rains down like a stage snow storm from every skyscraper ledge from the Battery to the Plaza fountain. In the downtown region some ticker tape is used but most of it consists of torn up telephone books.

Shrewd city editors are giving a wide berth to celebrities who attempt to secure publicity by an interview process. For quite a while it was the custom of chasing for first-page patting to travel on liners incognito or under hospital as John Doe. The news would trickle to the newspaper shops from other sources and create an air of mystery. It worked until it was overdone.

The most historic fire in New York was that of the Windsor hotel at Forty-sixth and Fifth avenue. Rubberneck wagon megaphonists point out the site of "the great Windsor fire." More lives have been lost in other metropolitan fires—the dear old Windsor "numbering eighty." But so casually the list was so distinguished. The Windsor housed only the rich and notable. The ordinary traveler found no welcome there.

The most persistent church-goer in New York is the sexton of Trinity who has missed but three Sundays in sixty years. It is an unusual sight on Sunday morning to see the rather stiff and prim congregation in the decoration of lower Broadway on way to Sabbathal stimulation. Wall street and its sub-burb bay-simmer to find out what the list was, so echoing footsteps of watchmen guarding millions. It is difficult to imagine that in an other twenty-four hours that tip of the island will be one of the busiest and noisier in all the city.—Copyright, 1926.

Swing Your Partners
Poor Old Victor
Where's the Monk?

BY EDNA DUTTON

All right balance! All right swing! Meet your partner with a turkey wing. This is not the password to a new lodge nor is it the very latest lingo hot from the fertile brain of a football cheer leader. Broadcast in a dance hall to the strains of "The Arkansas Traveler," played by a real fiddler it was the signal for some eight couples in the "set" to shake a foot and be lively about it. It is only a part of the "call" in an old-fashioned square dance popular not so many years ago.

According to those who get paid for knowing the old dances are coming back and to those of us who have adorned the walls for by these many moons, or retired gracefully in favor of the nimble Charleston hoppers, it is as sweet music to the ear. As the risk of courting a spell of heart trouble or throwing a shoe in the sun will take the chance and do our tricks to the amusement and undoubtedly to the open amazement of the present trapeze artists.

And what dances those are! You have to know your stuff. It is as much a faux pas to turn the wrong direction in the grapevine twist as to forget to use the salad forks at the first dinner with your best girl.

The callers are really artists. It takes skill and practice to call with the swing of the music, but it is worth it for a good caller is always in demand and garners not a few iron men for an evening's work.

Dancing masters refuse to predict where it all will end. Some would not be amazed to see us all pouring over the difficult measures of the Lancers and minuet so a word to the wise should be sufficient. If you are adept in the art of the old dance this is your timing, if not, well you know what to do.

I KNOW a dozen people who are as just as curious to know something as I was, but I found out so will pass it on. I found out what became of Victor, the friendly looking dog that for years has told us without looking at the sign just when we got to the Ackerman Piano Store. They say love never kills but that is just what has sent poor old Victor into the land where good dogs go. Too much petting. There were few youngsters where Victor without giving him a friendly pat, or squeeze while others mounted his sturdy back and gave him a real hug. Some time ago he went into the hospital for a new coat, the repair of a ragged ear and a broken leg, and apparently came back as good as new. But the summer was too much for him and this time his retirement is permanent. He is beyond repair. And the sad part of it is there are no more like him.

I WONDER if any one ever sees that popular street entertainer of a few years ago, the man with the grind organ and the pet monkey. I never do. The man was usually rather poorly dressed and spoke broken English but his kindly eyes and the friendliness of the monkey made up for any lack of up-to-date haberdashery in the eyes of the customers. I wonder now just where they came from and what was their destination? The man must have loved children for it was to them he played and the most he ever got, aside from the unanimous admiration and appreciation, was a mere handful of pennies for a half-hour's grinding of the music box and ceaseless urging to the monkey to do his stuff.

CARDINGTON
TRAP SHOOT

Affair Most Ambitious Ever
Staged by Morrow County
Gun Club

Mr. Gilford, Oct. 18 - The biggest trap shot ever held in Morrow County was staged at Russell's Black Raccoon from near Corvallis Thursday, when the Morrow County Gun Club put on a regular A. F. A. shoot. There was a guaranteed purse of $1,000, which was by far the most ambitious proposition ever attempted by the club. There were 29 shooters, many more entries than ever before at any of the previous events.

Among the celebrities in trap shooting circles who participated in the affair were W. G. Warren, of Chicago, a nationally known trapshooter, who took third money, breaking 153 of the 160 birds, and W. D. Remier, of Akron, and C. A. Young, 1920 state champion in the Grand American Handicap.

Clarence Osburn, Mechanicsburg, and K. B. Mitchell, Dunkirk, divided first money, winning $50 each, with a score of 158, missing only two birds from the 160.

Other winners were: R. R. Stevenson, Dayton, and C. A. Hogerl, Sandusky, $77.50 each, 137 birds; Walter

G. Warren, Chicago, and Walter K. Lammers, Danbury, $67.50, 150 birds; J. L. DeMoss, Buckeye Lake, $60, 10 birds; M. L. Sullivan, Mt. Vernon, 1; La. Wlaomah, Columbus, and B. I. Culver, Sparta, $50 each, 154 birds; C. A. Young, B. B. Clark, Mansfield, 6.

Keiffer, Somerset, and L. S. Musser, Chardington, $12.50 each, 163 birds; V. Smith, Columbus, L. J. Mitchell, Du-bird, $20 each, 152 birds; R. J. Leroy, Jamestown, 182 Robins, Cable, A. H. Hill and F. D. Shipley, $20 each, 181 birds; George M. Stetler, $20, 110 birds; C. F. Morgan, Columbus, C. Swartz, Kenton, P. Wince, St. Louisburg, $13.30, 110 birds.

The club is planning two more shoots. The first of these events will be staged November 11, which will be an option affair.

A big turkey shoot is also being planned, which will be held some time before Thanksgiving. Plans are being made to arrange this event so that all shooters will have an equal chance to win.

The club has been organized a B more than a year and is made up about a dozen Morrow County sportsmen. L. B. Russell, Cardington, president of the club and Carl L. Wright, Cardington, is secretary and treasurer.

Participants who are accustomed attend many trap shoots stated that even Thursday was unquestionably biggest affair in their knowledge, and

Hocking Valley Line Begins Construction Work on New Two-Mile Section of Track

Addition Will Extend North from Baltimore & Ohio Crossing, South of Fostoria, to Fostoria Yards; Line Will Cross Eight Tracks

The Hocking Valley Railroad Co. has begun the construction of a new two-mile section of track, to extend north from the Baltimore & Ohio crossing, just south of Fostoria, to the Fostoria yards. The building of a second track in that vicinity is one of the greatest and most expensive projects attempted this season on this division.

In the construction of the track the Hocking Valley must cross eight other tracks in the Fostoria yards, including rail of the electric companies operating through that city.

Despite the fact that a large number of crossing "frogs" will be necessary, the railroad company has planned to have the new track completed within a month, it was announced here today.

The building of the second track will assist greatly in speeding up traffic on the Hocking Valley and will aid in handling the increased shipments.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEN AS BEST U.S. CUSTOMER

Nearly Half American Exports for Year 1926 Will Go to British Ports

Washington, Oct. 16.—The tremendous importance of Great Britain, both as a customer and source of supply for the United States, is disclosed in figures on foreign trade available at the department of commerce.

In the year 1926 nearly one-half of all the goods sold by American industry will go to Great Britain or countries under its immediate protection. United States draws on England and its colonies for over one-third of our imports.

While some uncertainty as to exports and imports for the last few months of the year exist, it was expected that the outgoing business would somewhat exceed fiscal year foreign selling of $1,753,000,000 and that imports would not equal the exports.

For seven months of the year out of a total export trade of $2,575,000,000, the United States sold goods to British possessions amounting to a value of $1,102,000,000.

America's foreign buying in that period was $2,642,105,000, of which $253,485,000 came from Great Britain.

Imports Increase
The United Kingdom and Canada accounted for over $600,000,000 of American exports, relatively small sales having been made to other states under control of England, such as British India, Malaya, Hongkong, Australia, New Zealand, British South Africa and Egypt.

Imports from Britain, however, were more widely distributed. Canada and the United Kingdom furnished the country goods valued at $492,000,000 for the seven months ending August 1, while imports from British Malaya $205,740,000 and the British India $101,765,000.

Imports from Great Britain were $140,000,000 greater in the seven months than the corresponding period last year, while the gain in exports amounted to $35,906,000.

Experts at the department of commerce explained that the big increase in imports was primarily due to advanced prices of rubber which came in great quantities from British Malaya, in the first six months of the year.

From July to the present time, however, the United States has succeeded in partially breaking the British rubber monopoly and imports have declined in price to a material extent. Just what will occur in the future was said to be problematical as British interests are making a strong effort to re-instate higher rubber prices.

Other Factors

Another factor contributing to the increased imports from Great Britain is the fact that outstanding prosperity has marked the American business picture in the last year, resulting in an unusual demand for many exotic products which are produced on British soil.

Officials regard the increase in exports to the British possessions as of importance, in the face of keen competition from England, Germany and other European producers and in spite of a falling off of total exports to all countries of $127,000,000 in the seven months.

United States increased exports to all British territory excepting the United Kingdom, the largest boost having been in business with Canada to which was sold goods valued at $419,753,000 in the Jan.-August period, against $306,132,000 last year.

The trade to the British possessions was mainly in manufactured goods, representing the greater efficiency of American industry as compared to that of foreign countries.

Our Total Trade
Commerce department figures show that the aggregate trade both import and export of 55 principal countries in 1925 amounted to $58,500,000,000, representing approximately nine tenths of the world foreign business.

That was an increase of 13 per cent over 1925 and 54 per cent over 1913. Whether the usual annual increase will be seen again this year is somewhat doubtful according to experts who predicted that the trade would not be far from that in 1925.

British trade was greater than that of any other nation. The exports from United States in 1925, amounting to $4,910,000,000 were larger than the exports of any other country, and outside of Great Britain exceeded the combined exports of any two other countries.

POLICE WARN AGAINST HALLOWEEN VANDALISM

Damage to Property in All Sections of City Reported to Officials

Halloween, the occasion when the American boy is granted the privilege of showering windows with corn and indulging in other harmless forms of amusement, is still two weeks away but many Marion youngsters are fixing their own time for the celebration, according to reports at local police headquarters. Boys throughout the city are out practically every night staging premature demonstrations and their merry-making is far from being of a harmless nature, the police state.

Instead of following the traditional custom of throwing corn, numerous complaints filed with officers disclose, the youngsters are hurling stones and other dangerous missiles at dwelling houses and automobiles, with the result that there is constant danger of serious property damage.

There have also been reports of shattering being destroyed at several homes and of porch furniture being carried away and damaged.

Many Complaints
Friday night between 15 and 20 telephone calls to police headquarters summoned officers to different parts of the city to stop depredations of the youthful offenders. Four citizens called at the home of Mayor Hazen on N. Oak-st. Thursday night to register complaints.

The trouble-makers are not located in any one section of the city, the calls having come from various localities, but police say that the South Side has been the chief scene of vandalism thus far.

Both Mayor Hazen and Chief of Police Thompson state that the nightly disturbances must cease or arrests will be made, with the probability of severe penalties being meted out to the most serious offenders. They suggest that parents cooperate by requiring their boys to remain indoors after nightfall.

Police department officials state that even harmless Halloween pranks are prohibited prior to nights designated for annual observance of the event, and that on Halloween police will maintain a close watch throughout the city to prevent possible damage to property at the hands of the more unruly youngsters.

Unseen Sources of Long Life

The basic sources of automobile value are not always apparent to the eye.

A motor car, like a house, may LOOK a great deal more substantial than it really is.

Because of this difficulty, more and more thousands are turning to Dodge Brothers product for insurance against disappointment.

The years have proved, and each year proves anew, that Dodge Brothers are as deeply concerned with the UNSEEN goodness of their motor car as with the seen.

The mileage it will deliver, the safety it will provide, the expense and trouble it will save the owner over a period of years, are quite as important to Dodge Brothers as the more obvious details of equipment and style.

What Station to Get and When to Tune in Are Two Problems of Radio Fans

Many Eastern Broadcasting Plants Present Classical and Semi-Classical Programs Until 10 O'Clock; Some with Popular Music

By EDWIN H. SCHOENLEB, Radio Editor

Two of the greatest problems facing the radio audience of Marion as the 1927-28 season gets under way.

Although a few of the broadcasting stations within easy reach of Marion are rather irregular in their arrangement of programs for the week, the majority have a certain schedule which they follow each week.

Practically all stations in the Eastern states feature classical and semi-classical music and entertainment until 10 o'clock every night of the week. At 10 o'clock, many "sign off" while others may broadcast an hour of popular music.

WJZ Popular

WJZ, New York, presents the most popular Eastern station, easily tuned in on any Marion radio set. Features both classical and popular entertainment until 10 o'clock every night of the week. At 10 o'clock, many "sign off" while others may broadcast an hour of popular music.

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday night WJZ presents George Olsen and his orchestra from the Pennsylvania Hotel at 7:05 o'clock. Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, the Hotel Commodore Orchestra is featured at that hour. Between 8 and 10:30 o'clock classical and semi-classical programs are offered.

At 10:30, every night with the exception of Sunday, WJZ presents an hour of the finest dance music ever offered to radio listeners, broadcast direct from New York's greatest hotels and ballrooms.

Several other Eastern stations follow practically the same policy, devoting the first three or four hours of the night to classical programs and then presenting lighter entertainment. WEAF, New York, after offering programs by great artists during the first part of the night, will broadcast dance music almost every night from 10:30 to 11:30.

KDKA Program

KDKA, Pittsburgh, features classical programs and usually signs off at 10 o'clock. On various occasions, however, the Pittsburgh station announces a midnight dance program. WTG, Atlantic City, another station within easy reach of local radios, is often heard in popular selections late at night.

With the exception of the four named, radio fans find that all great Eastern stations are silent after 10 or 10:30 o'clock each night, unless a special bill has been planned for an unusual occasion or a Saturday night program has been arranged.

Ohio stations do not exactly follow in the footsteps of the pioneer Eastern stations but in a way imitate their policy, broadcasting classical and semi-classical entertainment until about 11 o'clock and then coming through with an hour of popular music and songs.

WTAM, Cleveland, is especially noted for this practice. The forepart of the night is spent in broadcasting programs from the New York studio or the Cleveland Public Auditorium while at 11 o'clock every night, with the exception of Sunday, a dance orchestra comes on the air for an hour. Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 8 o'clock, WTAM features a dance orchestra, usually Austin Wylie's group, in a dinner concert. Other days of the week, the Hollenden Hotel Orchestra is heard in classical and semi-classical selections at that hour.

Ohio Stations

Both WJW, Cincinnati, and WTAM, Cleveland, have special "poppy" nights. Every Thursday night, or rather, Friday morning, at 12:15 o'clock, WJW presents the Crosby Sky Terriers in

"night howls." The "poppy" continue to howl until 1:30. Ev Jones and his gang from Cleveland are a Saturday night feature at WTAM, coming on at 6 o'clock for a three-hour program.

WJW, Cincinnati, presents regular classical and popular programs every night, with the exception of Friday from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock. Friday is silent night at that station. The two Columbus stations, WLAG and WAHU, present, as a rule, only speeches or classical and semi-classical program. Few "jazz" orchestras are heard from that city. One of the two stations is on the air every night from 6 until 10 o'clock.

WSAI, Cincinnati, may be heard on all 11 o'clock every night and many occasions is still on the air at 12 o'clock. The programs during the forepart of the night come from New York while the remainder of the period is spent in popular entertainment.

Southern Stations

Beginning as early as 7 o'clock, popular programs and "poppy" entertainment comes in from the South. WSM, Nashville, leads off with dance music. WSB, Atlanta, may be heard in all varieties of programs except classical. WSMR, New Orleans, is usually found operating a "Sunshine Special" with the sound of a saxophone predominating.

Florida stations within reach of Marion sets may be found anytime after 7 o'clock sending out similar programs. Although a few classical or semi-classical entertainments may be heard from the southern stations, most radio fans have found that the South is noted for its popular bills.

Chicago stations are difficult to describe since the greater number have no regular schedule to follow, presenting, as it seems, whatever artist happens along at the time of the broadcasting. WLIR and WBBM specialize in light entertainment, however, while WITF, WGN, WMAQ, WJL and WBBM, have other great stations, offer classical entertainments until the late hours.

Southwestern Program

Southwestern and western stations, including WBAF and WFAA, Fort Worth and Dallas; WDAF, Kansas City; WOC, Davenport; KOA, Denver; KFI, Los Angeles, and other huge broadcasting outfits, are seldom heard in this vicinity until the many eastern stations sign off at 10 o'clock. Even at that hour, however, a few of the western stations are only broadcasting dinner hour concerts.

"Night owls" of the radio game find that the western stations are the most important and may be heard long after those in the eastern and central parts of the country have closed the microphone. This is partly due to the fact that stations in the West are operated under a different time schedule. A few nights ago, at about 10 o'clock, a Marion fan lucky enough to tune in on Los Angeles, heard the announcer describing the sunset beyond the "Golden Gate."

FREEDOM OF AIR IS BIG PROBLEM IN NEAR FUTURE

World's Radio Conference Next Spring To Draft World Regulations

Washington, Oct. 13.—Future freedom of the air has taken its place as an important international problem. American delegates to the world radio conference to be held in Washington next spring have drafted a complete set of regulations designed to meet the many complex questions growing out of increasing use of the radio.

Crowding of the air, control of interference and assigning of wave lengths to be used both for radio-telegraph and for voice broadcasting are included in the program to be laid down.

The American representatives will propose that each nation assign wave lengths for voice broadcasting, some license for international radio stations and thus prevent the chaos which has often threatened radio broadcasting in the United States.

To Meet in May

The radio conference to be held here is regarded as of especial importance, since it is the first to consider radio telegraph conditions since the London conference of 1912. It is called under a resolution of congress and probably will convene in Washington about May 1.

To prepare an American program for consideration an interdepartmental committee was created composed of seven representatives of the state, war, navy, commerce, postoffice and agriculture departments, and the U. S. Coast Guard and the U. S. Shipping Board, with Leland Harrison, assistant secretary of state as chairman.

After months of work the committee has drafted its recommendations, which will go to the International Radio Union at Bern, Switzerland, for distribution to the 42 nations to be represented at the party here.

The American committee will propose that the old agreement which limited ships to wave lengths of 300, 500 and 600 meters be abolished and instead certain fixed wave lengths assigned for special services such as radio compass work. For general radio service the American policy will be that there should be a complete freedom of the air so long as the general radio service is not impeded.

Limiting Broadcasters

Broadcasting stations would be allowed to take any wave lengths not prohibited by their own government regulations, but should interference result the matter would become a subject for international discussion.

The possibility of future limitation of voice broadcasting stations in international communication will be considered. United States experts contend that the radio-telephone "uses" several times the amount of ether required for the radiotelegraph. The latter, they hold, must be the chief means of international radio if there is the vast development predicted by scientists.

How to provide recovery for messages also will be taken up at the conference, part of delegates from Great Britain.

Revision of the International code of signals will be considered upon the phenomenal voice as she is both a soprano and contralto of distinction although she is more often heard in the lower scale. Frank La Forge, the gifted American pianist and composer, became particularly famous as an accompanist and has been heard on many occasions with such famous operatic soloists as Schumann-Heink, Gedski and Abbi.

TOURNEY TEAMS BRING ROOTERS FOR BIG MONEY

Three Clubs Visit Athletics
Sunday in Final Contests

The Marion Athletics will not be the only team in the baseball tournament at Lincoln Park Sunday afternoon which will have its home town rooters there to cheer it on to victory. Word from Richmond is to the effect that there are so many fans coming with the team that serious consideration has been given to chartering a special train to bring them. And the Union County team is coming with the firm intention of showing the large crowd which intends to follow that it has real ball players. The team is entering the tournament with but one object—first money.

Crestline Wants First Game

Crestline also promises to have something to say about where first money will go. The team from this railroad center came here with the thought was a good enough team to cop first honors last week and are still

TULANE-NEW YORK EXPECT TO KICK

New York, Oct. 16.—A kicking duel is expected in the inter-sectional football game at Yankee Stadium this afternoon between the crack Tulane eleven and New York University, unbroken as the defending team. Each of the best players in the game—Kenneth Strong and Jack Connor for Chick McGowan's local violets, and Eddie Morgan and Johnny Menville for the Big Green Wave team of New Orleans.

Smarting under the defeat handed them by the Athletics, they promise to bring a stronger team tomorrow.

Willard had not had much to say, except that they are strengthening for this series of games. This team lost a close game to the Athletics in August and would like regular team with the purpose of beating Marion first and then taking first money in the tourney. Manager Bacon and his athletes are not talking for publication; but the record they have piled up this season speaks for itself. The regular lineup which brought the state championship to this city will be used. Main and Reese will be on the mound, with Branshear behind the plate. The rest of the regulars will appear in their usual positions.

They will start promptly at 1 o'clock. They will be drawn for the first and second games. The winners of these games will play off the final.

This will probably be the last game of the season. The baseball committee has not tried to arrange any future games, as there is no assurance of more baseball weather this year.

"Where Quality Rules"

LOCAL FANS SEE STARS AT LIMA

Among Marion's baseball fans who saw Babe Ruth and Billy Southworth play Friday at Lima where Columbia's championship team was represented, was Miss Ardie Boyer, S. Vincent, membership secretary at the Y. M. C. A. "Babe was simply wonderful," says Miss Boyer. "He hit 25 balls clear out of the lot—just for fun, and played a different position, each inning."

"Southworth was very clever, too," she concluded.

BUCKS FAVORED OVER COLUMBIA

Good Sophomore Material
Putting Veteran Ohioans
on Sidelines

New York, Oct. 16.—When five sophomores can manage to win regular places on a variety football team in spite of the presence of a veteran squad, there is reason to believe that the team will be much more powerful than it was the year before.

That is the situation that prevails this season at Ohio State, with the result that the Buckeyes are strongly favored to trample Columbia this afternoon at the Polo Grounds.

The Scarlet and Gray had a high class combination a year ago and of the 11 men who participated in the 9 to 0 victory over Columbia at Columbus, nine are at hand. But three of these are going to be on the sidelines today for better material has come up from a remarkable freshman team of a year ago. In addition, the places of both men lost by graduation are being filled by second-year men, although some more experienced men of considerable ability are at hand. On the other hand, this year's Columbia team is regarded as being somewhat weaker than that of 1925. Schmitt, Wagner, Wilson, Wagner, Raphael and Aulick, stars who faced the Buckeyes last fall, no longer are available, and in addition, Penn, last year's captain, who was unable to play against Ohio State on account of an injury, is missing.

With the exception of the members of this year's Columbia team, the combination was a regular throughout the 1925 season. In spite of this, Columbia has made a reasonably good showing in the three games it has played so far, all its opponents being held scoreless.

The brunt of Ohio State's attack today is expected to be borne by Captain Marty Karow, playing fullback, who was a thorn in Columbia's side last year, and Benn Eby, sensational sophomore running back. The latter has displaced one of the leading backs in the Maroon line, who, however, is expected to get into today's battle as a substitute Eby. In the line the most notable performer is likely to be Ed Hess, all-American guard.

Boston—Maxie Rosenbloom, of Brooklyn, won a foul from Tiger Flowers, of Atlanta, Ga., middle-weight champion, in the ninth round. The title was not at stake, as both men were over-weight.

Los Angeles—Doc Snell, of Tacoma, won decision over Jimmy McLarnin, of Belfast, 10 rounds.

Dayton—Jim Stone, Dayton, defeated Ted Jackson, Washington Court House, eight rounds; Bobby McGowan, Dayton, defeated Speedy Miller, Cincinnati, eight rounds.

Savannah, Ga.—Rabe McCarty, of New York, knocked out Battling Finch, of Savannah, in the second round.

Tampa, Fla.—Sammy Vogel, of New York, won a decision from Armando Schiele, of Belgium, 10 rounds.

Windsor—Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, won decision over Ward Sparks, 10 rounds; Johnny Weber won from Dickey O'Neil, Cleveland.

NAVY-PRINCETON GAME ATTRACTS MUCH INTEREST

Teams Evenly Matched in Supreme Test of Season

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—Princeton today in the most important test that either eleven has faced so far. The Tiger has far so smooth after the showing against Washington and Lee on last Saturday. Princeton didn't look too good and just about to somewhat better advantage than its rival, but not enough to give it any decided advantage.

Princeton has a happy knack of rising to an occasion. It may surprise this afternoon.

Blitter Battle Promised
Neither William C. Roper, Princeton coach, nor Navy Bill Ingram, coach of the middies, can see anything but a bitter battle in store for their team. Princeton will take the field with Captain Jack Davis on the sidelines still nursing his pet tin ear. Jackie Single is here to do combat and will not be back until the Harvard game. From Navy comes the word that Shipley one will be potent triple threats of the team will be on the sidelines. There are other men of prime condition on the Navy squad. Princeton has a knack of producing one hero when heroes are needed.

There is always a man to do big things. Johnny Poe did it; John DeWitt did it. Sam White won two games in a single year and Garrity and Sherer rose to an emergency in a Yale game some years ago. Princeton is looking around for a hero to crown tonight.

Ted Williams started the game with Washington and Lee at quarterback and looked like a hero for a while. He scored a touchdown from a 60 yard run through the enemy team but later he fumbled and Tips scored a touchdown from that.

The probabilities are that Williams will get a good bit of action today, with Bridges, Prendergast, Miles and Norman look like backfield choices, with Erlo Burch, and Jack Chandler undoubtedly seeing service. Baruch is a triple threat of great possibility.

Line Lacks Action

Princeton's line will have to show something swifter than it showed against Washington and Lee. With Davis out of action, the center trio is not the strongest combination in the world. Navy's ends and tackles will probably out-shine the Tiger forwards in those positions. The middies boast four tackles in Captain Wickhorst, Eddy, Woerner and Olsen who rank right with the best.

KENTON PARTY ATTRACTS MANY

Local Sportsmen Plan To Attend Southworth Dinner
Tuesday

A party of Marion sportsmen will motor to Kenton Tuesday night to attend the testimonial dinner party which is to be given by civic clubs for Billy Southworth, St. Louis star and former Kenton Red sand-lotter. Demand has been increased to such an extent that the Kenton organizations will be unable to supply more than half the number who plan to attend. The party was planned originally by and for Kenton residents; but as a result of publicity many neighboring towns and cities signified their intentions of joining the party which is being sponsored by Kenton's Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Elks, High School and New York Central Athletic Associations. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Representatives of The Marion Star, Manager Francis W. Bacon and other officials of the Marion Athletic Baseball Club are planning to attend.

Chicago Cubs have purchased Elwood English, shortstop, from Toledo. Apparently want to put more English on their infield play.

Bill Jones, Army coach, has been raised from a lieutenant to a captain. But if the Army has a poor season he'll be called something else again.

Pittsburgh fans are still roasting the New York Yanks for the showing they made early in the world's series. Forgetting how the Senators toyed with the Pirates for a few days in 1923.

Michigan's 43-0 victory, over the Oklahoma Aggies may scare some of the big ten teams but the schedule's going to be played out nevertheless.

NOTRE DAME FAVORITE OVER PENN STATE TEAM

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 16.—Held as slight favorites to win, Notre Dame will take the field against Beiler's Penn State gridders here this afternoon in one of the headline inter-sectional tilts of the day.

The largest crowd of the season was here to witness the contest. Dopsters hold that Notre Dame should win by 12 points. They minimize the loss of Joe Boland, tackle in the Minnesota game, and predict that Frank Miller, sophomore, will fill Boland's shoes to capacity.

MUSKINGUM HERE ENROUTE TO ADA

Enroute to Ada where they are playing Ohio Northern this afternoon, 25 football players from Muskingum College stopped at Harding Hotel Friday night. They continued their journey by bus, leaving at 9 o'clock this morning. Muskingum is being followed to Ada by a drove of motorists passing through today.

Three Freshmen rooters from Muskingum stopped at the Y. M. C. A. last night and made things merry. They were R. W. Campbell, Vandergrift, D. J. Joseph Ewing, Youngstown, and E. L. McQueen, of Newark. They were out early today in the trusty puddle jumper.

BIG TEN TEAMS GET IN ACTION

Michigan-Minnesota and Wisconsin-Purdue
Among Battles

Chicago, Oct. 15.—While Ohio State is giving New York City its first glimpse of a Big Ten team and Chicago makes another appearance at Philadelphia in inter-sectional games, the remainder of the conference will run the first heat in their annual championship relay. Outside of the Ohio State-Columbia game in which the Buckeyes hold a slight edge, and the Chicago-Pennsylvania tilt, which the Quakers are conceded outright, mid-western interest will center at Ann Arbor where Minnesota and Michigan tangle in the first of their two games this season.

Michigan, the outstanding team of the conference, is primed for its first hard game of the year and will probably blast all Gopher hopes for revenge.

Iowa Plays Illinois
Iowa, the homecoming guest at Urbana, will stake its ace, Cowboy Kusch, against "Frosty" Peters, the Iced Grange of Zuppke's 1925 entry, in an attempt to repeat last year's victory over the alma mater of its coach, Bert Ingwersen. Iowa's chances were better last year than they are this, and only a favor from fate is held out as the Hawkeyes hope.

Wisconsin at Purdue is the favorite, but the boiler-makers have encountered stiff competition in their early season games and might spring a surprise on the Badgers, who have yet to prove themselves worthy of all the good words spoken for them in pre-season resumés. Pat Page will make his first appearance in the conference as a head coach at Evanston against Glen Tinsley's Northwestern eleven. Northwestern's experience gives it a great advantage over the sophomore aggregation from Indiana.

The mid-west's inter-sectional attraction will be offered at Notre Dame where the Ramblers meet Penn State. Notre Dame seems pre-ordained for victory, Rockne himself having declared the South Bend outfit the better club by a comfortable margin.

CORNELL ELEVEN MEETS MICHIGAN STATE TODAY

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The Cornell eleven will meet a strong football team from Michigan State here this afternoon.

Predictions were that Coach Dobie would make liberal use of the forward pass in today's game, having put his men through long passing drills all this week.

Observers see in today's game a good test of Cornell's timber this year, as the western team has always given strong opposition.

In Belgium a big football match is regarded as an affair primarily of social importance to be attended by cabinet ministers, aristocracy and women as well as men.

HARDING HAS BIG ADVANTAGE OVER ASHLAND HIGH

Should Win League Contest by Big Margin, Claim

Victory by a good margin is predicted for Harding High this afternoon at the fairgrounds over Ashland's Mid-west High in a North Central Ohio League game.

Coach Paul Sprout and his squad has every advantage today. The local team is heavier, shifter and more experienced to say nothing of the wet field which gives it all the more advantage. Marion has a real mud-going team. The Red and Black proved the fact at Columbus in their first game with Central High, which was lost 2 to 0 in a downpour of mud and water mixed with a disagreeable rain and wind.

Ashland's team is a winner of league games which are always specials with Coach Harry J. Barnhart. It is lighter than usual this year, according to Coach Barnhart who uses the aerial attack to some advantage. That is Ashland's only hope today. And don't forget Harding has one of those things too.

McDowell High wears alphabetical letters on their suits instead of numerals, and of course that will make some little difference, whether that can be considered an advantage or not will be more easily decided after the game.

Don't forget, please, complete details of the Harding-Ashland and other game of interest will appear in The Star's pink sheet football extra tonight.

SOLDIERS WATCH ARMY-SYRACUSE

West Point Hopes Are High For Championship
Contenders

West Point, Oct. 16.—While the eyes of the Big Three may rest on Dartmouth and Yale today and the orbs of the West lean heavily toward Pennsylvania and Chicago, the gaze of all in the land of soldiers peer across the miles from a score of outposts toward this historic old point.

For the Army in meeting Syracuse is undergoing its baptism of fire today, the baptism that will make or break it as a contender for national honors. Not since Ellinger, Farwick and Garbisch has West Point had such a football team as "B" Jones drives this year and not in a decade have their hopes for honors been so bright.

Babe Ruth's total of 47 home runs during the season just closed brings his all-time total to 358. His record performance for one season, that of 59 home runs, still stands, however.

The salary limit of professional football players in England is $40 a week, with a bonus of $10 for every championship match won.

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

It was Saturday. And it was warm. All the leaves on all the trees were all the colors of the rainbow. I had got the barn cleaned after the cows out. We all went out to the graveyard and the back of the poorhouse and the river. We had a lot of fun. We were as happy as butter, and as cold as ice.

Banty that my folks was going to the city right after supper. We were thinking of renting, and I told the bunch if they would go around Banty's we would all go. When I was eating supper I asked Banty if I could go over to Banty's. Banty said, "No, he said they were going to the city. I could go along. My aunt said she wasn't going, and she didn't. When they got there they got them to stay right where they were. Banty and the whole bunch went along and they were running through all the rooms and looking out of all the windows and seeing from the rafters in the attic. After a while I got the Lost Bag. Banty was in the room off the cellar. I pointed to the cellar door and

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Saturday there was no school in Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his yellow stump bungalow and where the animal boys and girls played.

"Let's set up a lemonade stand and sell cool drinks for a penny a glass," said Jingle, who was one of the forty-two little bunny rabbits belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Longears.

"That will be jolly good fun, my cabbage!" exclaimed Jangle, trying to pretend she was a French rabbit.

So the two little bunny girls got an old box that had once been filled with crumpets or lemons. I forget which, and there was no way of telling, for the box only had in it now a sort of perfume. Sometimes it smelled like lemons and again like oranges.

"However, it doesn't matter," said Jangle. "What we must do is to get some real lemons, not just a smell, and make cool drinks."

"We need ice, sugar and water," added Jangle.

The two little rabbit girls asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey for what they needed, and the muskrat lady housekeeper helped them set up their lemonade stand at the corner where many animal folk passed during the day.

Though it was October, still the day was warm, and Jingle and Jangle thought they would take in a lot of pennies, which they planned to give to a hospital or to the Fresh Air Fund or something like that.

And after the stand was set up and covered with clean paper, with a pitcher of iced lemonade, and glasses, and a sign box to hold the money, they really, it looked very cute.

"All we need now is some one to buy our lemonade," said Jingle.

Here comes Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman," said Jingle in a whisper. "He is always warm before winter starts. Maybe he will buy something from us."

And Mr. Whitewash did, drinking seven glasses of the cool, sweet lemonade and paying a penny a glass for it. "Seven pennies!" cried Jingle in delight as she counted them.

"Seven is a lucky number!" said Jangle. "I guess we're going to get rich. We'll have a lot of money for the Fresh Air Fund."

But alas! After the first customer, no more stopped at the bunny-girls' lemonade stand to buy, though the two little rabbits waited and waited until the ice was nearly all melted. Then Jingle and Jangle, going to the movies and the lemonade bunnies said:

"Oh, we'll go with you!"

"But who will 'tend our lemonade stand?" asked Jingle.

"We'll get Daddicus Uncle Wiggily to look after it!" said Jingle. And when the bunny gentleman hopped past, having looked in vain for an adventure in the woods, he said:

"Right gladly will I 'tend your lemonade stand!"

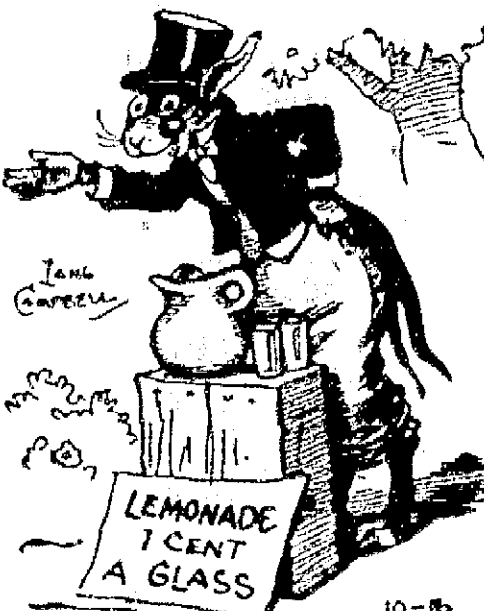

So Uncle Wiggily sat down on a little box behind the pitcher of lemonade and glasses and waited for customers. But none came and Mr. Longears had a funny idea.

"If customers will not come and pay me for lemonade," he said, "I will pay them for drinking it. Ha! They can't fool me!" So he began to sing: "Sten right this way, my friends. Ice cold sweet lemonade, in the shade. A penny a glass."

"What if I have no penny?" sadly asked a poor little mouse boy, who looked thirsty.

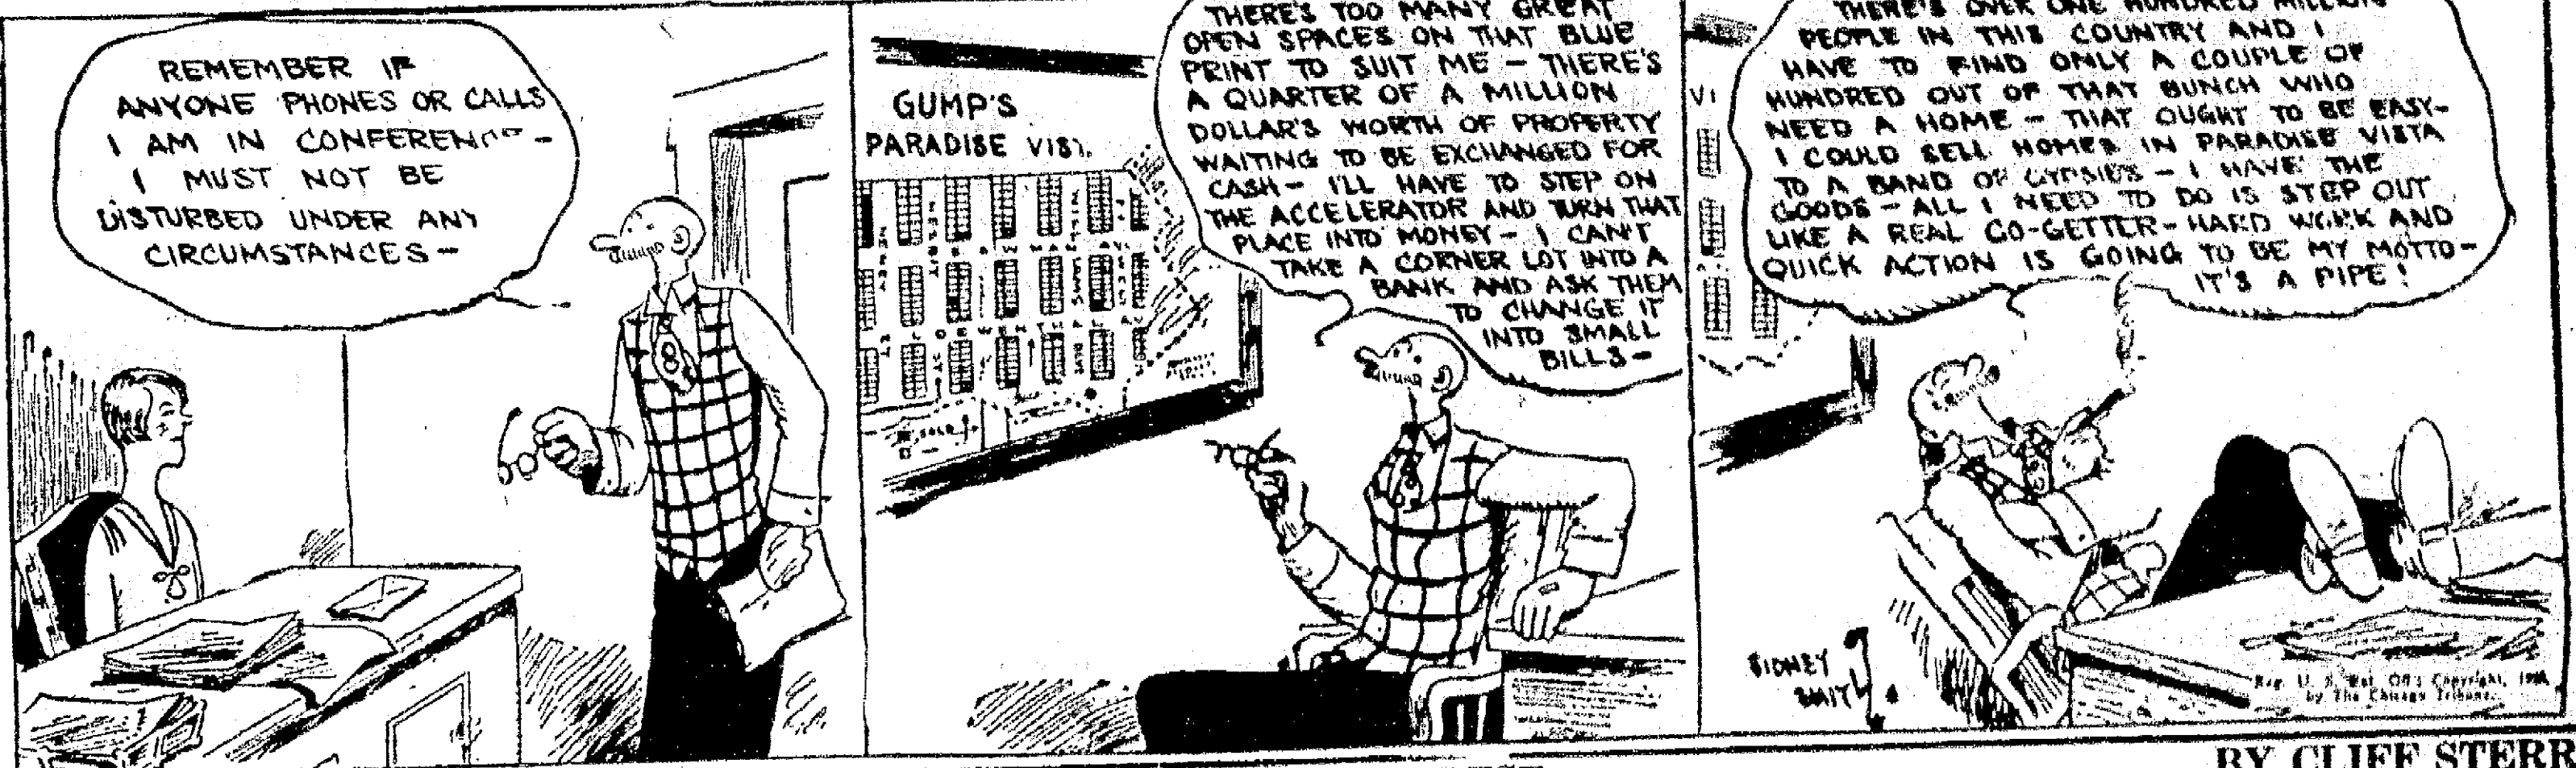

"Why that's just it!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You don't need any money to buy my lemonade. I'll pay you a penny a glass to drink it!"

"Oh, how jolly different that is!" squeaked the mouse boy. So he called six other little thirsty mice boys, and Uncle Wiggily gave them each a glass of lemonade, and what is more, the mouse stand!

BIG DIRIGIBLE RACES STORM TO HOME PORT

Commander Cuts Short Its Visit to Detroit When Warning Is Received

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 16.—After a race across several states to avoid a storm brewing in the west, the Los Angeles, giant navy dirigible, returned here safely at 4:40 a. m. today and was landed on the field by 6:30 a. m. It left Detroit yesterday afternoon at 2:10 o'clock and fled before the storm to the Hudson River Valley where the big ship outdistanced it.

With the memory of the Shenandoah's fate in Ohio last year in mind, Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl cut loose when he heard the storm was coming toward him. Speeding eastward at 70 miles an hour, the crew members wireless they were enjoying a chicken dinner furnished by the Ford Motor Co. The big ship passed over Buffalo at 9:30 o'clock and over Rochester at 10:25 o'clock last night.

Completes Mission
Though the Los Angeles abbreviated its visit at Detroit by 18 hours when the storm threat arose, its principal mission was completed when it was safely moored to the $100,000 mooring mast which had been especially built for it by Henry Ford at his private airport at Dearborn, Michigan.

The dirigible was to have participated today in the dedication of a municipal airport at Youngstown, Ohio, named in memory of Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne, commander of the ill-fated Shenandoah, who lost his life with his ship in a storm over Ohio last year. At the approach of the storm today, which Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl, commanding the Los Angeles, feared might prove similar to that which wrecked the Shenandoah caused him to make a precipitate flight homeward.

URBANA SHERIFF SLAYER INDICTED FOR MURDER

Two Counts Returned Against Harry Sprague, World War Veteran

Urbana, Oct. 16.—After deliberating all day yesterday, a special grand jury today returned a first degree murder indictment against Harry Sprague, 40, World War veteran and former inmate of the state insane asylum at Columbus, who shot and killed Sheriff Jacob K. Bosler, 56, last Sunday night when Bosler attempted to arrest him on complaint of Sprague's wife who said he had threatened to kill her.

The indictment contained two counts, one charging murder and the other charging Sprague with shooting an officer of the law in performance of his duty.

Sprague is held in the county jail here.

The Republican county central executive committee today had decided on Pearl Jones as the party's candidate for sheriff. Bosler had entered the race to succeed himself and his widow now is serving out his unexpired term, having been appointed to the office by the Champaign County commissioners.

Each Day New Proof of Pontiac Six Supremacy

Now rapidly approaching the 75,000 mark, Pontiac Six Production incontestably proves that there was a demand for a low-priced six of high quality—and that the Pontiac Six meets that demand like no other car in the world!

In all the thirty-one years of automotive history, the greatest first full year's production ever attained by any new make of automobile did not exceed thirty-three thousand cars. Yet the Pontiac Six, introduced only nine months ago, has already more than doubled that figure.

This impressive achievement is based not only on the brilliant beauty and spacious comfort that the Pontiac Six offers at so low a price, but also on stamina, ruggedness and thrilling performance which stamp it a triumph of quality car design and construction.
